Selected Writings On Investment Treaty Arbitration

Examines the philosophical foundation of legitimate expectations to create a normative framework for use in investment treaty arbitration.

Foreign investors have a privileged position under investment treaties. They enjoy strong rights, have no obligations, and can file for compensation merely on the basis of a belief that they have been treated unfairly. Unsurprisingly, this extraordinary status has made international investment law one of the most controversial areas of modern law. This is the first book which, as a single, stand-alone volume, provides the rules, the case law and the essential practicalities of a practitioners' procedural handbook.
